Thomas J. Crummy Landscaping Meeting International Best Practice

Thomas J. Crummy Landscaping, the Bord Bia Landscape Business of the Year 2010-2011 has been recently certified to ISO 14001 Environmental and OHSAS 18001 Health and Safety Management by Certification Europe. These recent certifications are a further addition to the ISO 9001 Quality award that the organisation has held since 2009. This triple crown of certification makes Thomas J. Crummy Landscaping the only landscaping company in Ireland to achieve such recognition.

ISO 14001 and OHSAS 18001 provides a framework for environmental , health and safety best practice management that helps organisations to prevent pollution, minimise environmental footprint, protect its employees from workplace hazards, conform to legislation and develop their business in a safe and sustainable manner.

Ciaran O'Malley, Business Development Manager for Certification Europe, the awarding body, said, "It must be recognised to achieve such awards for best practice in environmental, health and safety management in these challenging times shows the public and the business community that Thomas J. Crummy Landscaping is raising their game whilst some operators are dropping their standards to cut costs."

The Cloonloo, County Sligo based All Ireland award winning landscaping company, Thomas J. Crummy Landscaping is nationally recognised and respected having been involved with and short listed for some of the most prestigious work in Ireland. For more than thirteen years they have been providing a wide range of landscape design, consultancy, build and maintenance services to homeowners, businesses and semi-state entities throughout the Northwest region and beyond. Thomas J. Crummy Sportsturf Management, the sports ground maintenance division is the most recent addition to the range of services offered by the company.

Thomas J. Crummy Proprietor stated "We always felt we were operating to best practice in relation to quality, safety and environmental management. The fact that our business has been independently assessed by Certification Europe proves it."
